Junior - Senior

Banquet And Prom

The 1971 Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom was held at Crestwood Country Club in Sand Springs. Ric Harber presided as Master of Ceremonies for the banquet. Randy Phillips looked into his crystal ball and predicted the future for many of the seniors. Others on the program included Brian Hicks, Guy McKnight, Don Ross, and Ron Robinson.

Silver and blue balloons filled with helium clung to the ceiling, while zeppelins of the same color were used as table decorations to carry out our theme Up, Up and Away.

The band, Boss Tweed, furnished music for the prom.

In his fourteenth year as superintendent, Mr. Frank A. Herald has initiated many facility expansions at Jenks Public Schools, the latest being a $340,000 gymnasium which was named in his honor. The next addition to the school plant will be a fifteen-room building between the kindergarten and elementary.

Mrs. Sue Gentis, Mr. Herald's secretary, handles much of the bookkeeping for the Jenks School system and is clerk for the school board.

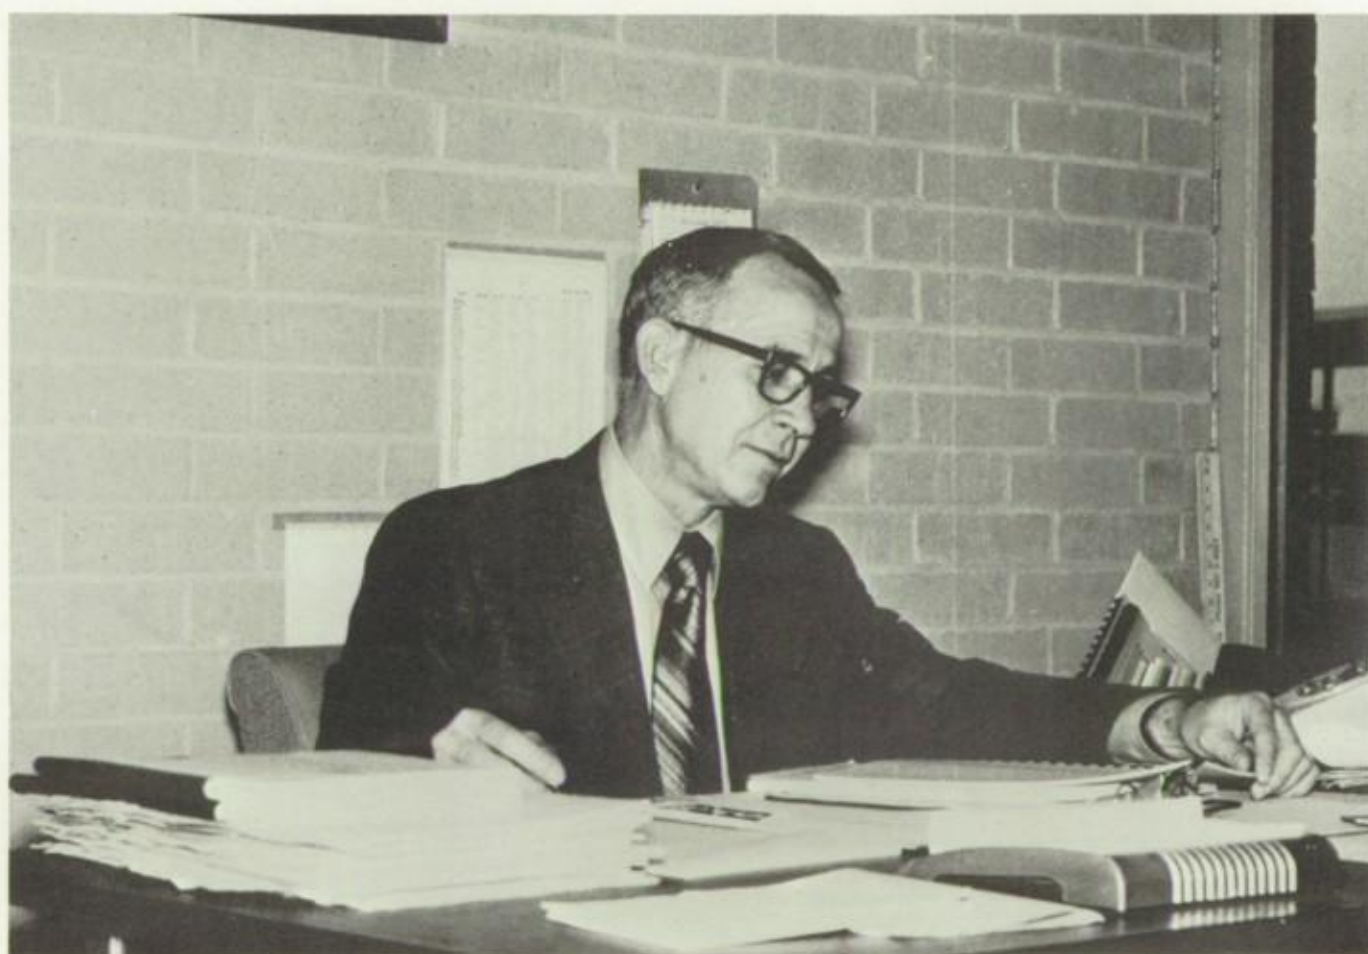

Managing the non-teaching personnel, ordering school equipment and supplies, supervising school transportation, and directing the school's federal programs are among Jim Marshall's administrative duties.

Mrs. Helen McLain, receptionist in the Administrative Building, is Mr. Marshall's secretary and cafeteria cashier.

The busiest office in JHS is that of Principal R.L. Sharp. His many duties include supervising students, teachers, and school organizations. A former coach and avid supporter of all Trojan events, Mr. Sharp announces high school football games at home, and he serves on the Oklahoma High School Activities Association Board of Directors.

If anyone has a question about school, Mrs. Betty Park has the answer. In her role as Mr. Sharp's secretary, Mrs. Park relieves him of some of his duties by handling communications and detail work, such as drafting letters, ordering books, and answering the telephone.

"I'd like Jenks to be the best and happiest school system possible," says Mr. Frank D. Wood, junior high principal for three years. Mr. Wood has little time with all his responsibilities, but he enjoys fishing for relaxation. He spends much of his time at his cabin on Grand Lake.

Mrs. Billie Adcock received her B.S. degree from TU in 1970—one year before her son graduated from Rogers High School. A sponsor for the High School Pep Club, and sophomore English teacher, Mrs. Adcock says, "I think sophomores are great. I asked to teach them again this year."

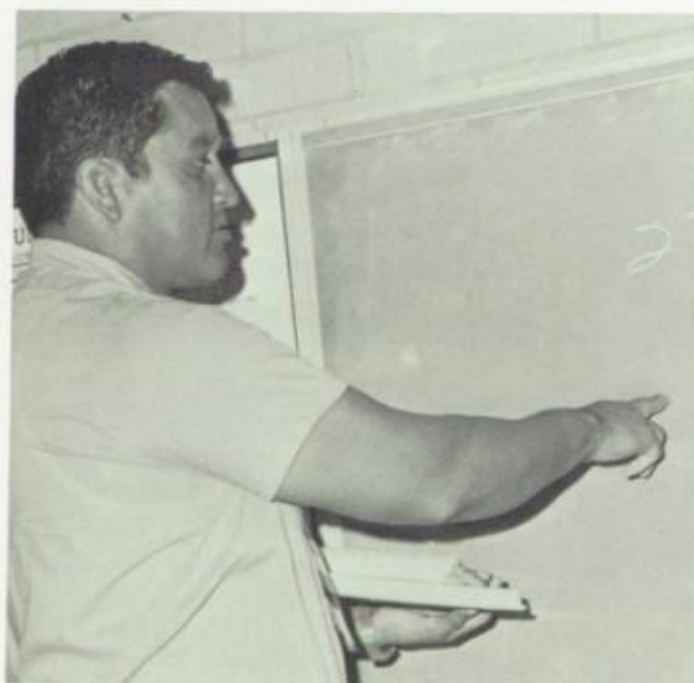

The typing class got a new face this year with the coming of Miss Rita Albertson. She comes well qualified to her role as a high school pep club sponsor as she was pep club president at Abilene Christain College. This being her first year to teach, Miss Albertson says she enjoys teaching and likes the people of Jenks. When not working, Miss Albertson enjoys playing golf.

Mrs. Jane Bass, Choir director for two years at JHS, enjoys gardening and teaching herself to play the guitar. Of all the popular instruments, Mrs. Bass prefers the guitar because it helps in teaching elementary students.

Mr. Charles Barnes, guidance counselor, holds his hands out to imitate wings and makes swishing sounds as he describes his favorite pastime, flying. His other hobbies include golfing and fishing. Holding a B.S. and M.S. from Kansas State College, he has done post-graduate work at the University of Florida and the University of Tulsa.

Mr. Perry Beaver teaches high school mathematics and is line coach for the Trojans. His approach to helping students when they make errors is "You'll do better next time."

"I'm not really sure that it (new math) helps computation," says Mrs. Marcelene Bowen, ninth grade math teacher, "but it does teach a great deal about the number system." Mrs. Bowen received her BA from Central Methodist College in Missouri and did graduate work at the University of Tulsa. In her spare time she likes to water ski and play golf.

Everyone knows that the halftime performances of the JHS band last from three to four minutes, but who knows that fifty to seventy-five hours of work have gone into each halftime show? Mrs. Alma Churchill does. She has taught elementary band, music theory, and in instrumental band for ten years. Reading, crocheting, boating, and fishing are hobbies Mrs. Churchill enjoys in her spare time.

Mr. John Bunyard, head junior high football coach and high school history teacher, has been associated with JHS for eleven years. Besides coaching football, he aids in the wrestling program and coaches little league baseall during the summer months.

After ten years of teaching girls home economics, Mrs. Emma Bunyard finally has her own daughter, 18 month-old Stephanie, to teach. She enjoys antiquing, decoupageing, and teaching an adult sewing class.

When pictures, films, or record players are needed, Mr. Joseph Burchette has been consulted the last three years. One of the most qualified audio-visual directors in the state, Mr. Burchette is currently serving on the County Film Committee.

Don Decker, DE coordinator, has duties in addition to those of supervising students on their jobs. This year, as president of the Oklahoma Vocational Association he represented approximately 2,000 teachers in the vocational educator's meeting in Portland, Ore.

Mr. Keith Churchill, JHS band director, feels a good band is made by "everyone doing his own part and doing his best." Mr. Churchill, in his twelfth year at Jenks, belongs to the American School Band Directors Association.

Mr. Dalton Cavender, credited with being the first coach to take the Trojans to state basketball contests, is currently spending his seventh year at JHS. He classifies basketball as a game of "pride." "Wonderful—just wonderful," is his description of the new Frank Herald Gymnasium. In addition to coaching basketball, Mr. Cavender teaches history and geography.

Mr. Nicholas Ditolla, has an outdoor classroom teaching P.E. His classes are distinguished by notebooks and written tests. Mr. Ditolla is the end coach for the high school football team and is the junior high boys basketball coach.

The most unusually dressed female teacher at JHS is Mrs. Cindy Collman, girls P.E. teacher. Mrs. Collman instructs her girls in tumbling, volleyball, badminton, tennis, softball, flag football, and other sports. "I'm trying to give something to challenge them all."

Besides teaching math and physics at JHS, Bill Fisher is also president of the Jenks Classroom Teachers Association. He is a student as well as an instructor. Twice weekly, he attends classes at Northeastern State College. Mr. Fisher enjoys hunting and spends much of his spare time participating in his favorite sport.

"Keep eyes on copy" has been said at least once a day by Mrs. Claudia Gibson, who came here from New Mexico in 1969. She also teaches office practice and shorthand and works with FBLA.

"Me llama es Senorita Connie Fousel and je m' appelle Mademoiselle Connie Fousel." With these statements she greets her Spanish and French classes. Following directions in Spanish, constructing pinatas, and doing ads in French are among her classes' activities.

English isn't the only language with which Mrs. Maxine Edmiston is well acquainted. She has also taught French, her "second language." According to Mrs. Edmiston, knowing English so well has helped in her study of French.

Students who have American History know he was around when history was being made. How else can a carving, "Howie loves Martha," be explained. In addition to school duties and working with the juniors, Mr. Dunn raises cattle.

Mrs. Thera Hengst, JHS'S "assistant to all assistants" teacher, has been teaching in our school for twenty-one years. Commonly seen running up and down the halls, Mrs. Hengst fulfills duties as annual staff director, senior class sponsor, and FBLA advisor in addition to her position as head of the Business Education Department.

Unlike most Texans, Mrs. Betty Harrison, junior and senior English teacher, is not long and tall. In fact, she finds getting through the JHS halls difficult, and she is sometimes mistaken for a student. Although a loyal Texan she does root for OU.

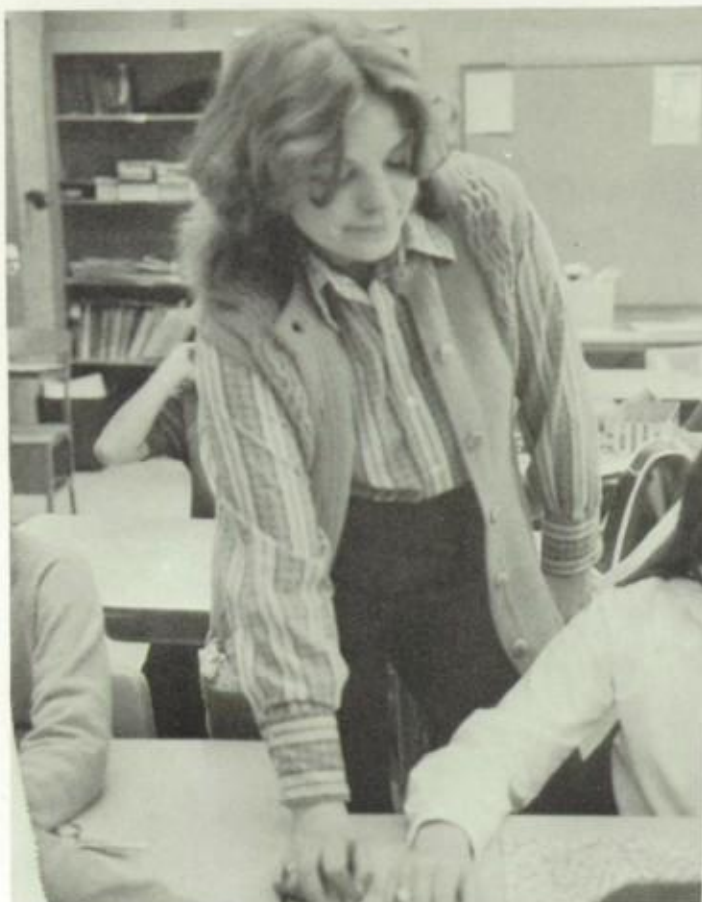

"Through wrestling, I hope an individual learns self-sacrifice, self-discipline, and a feeling of accomplishment." Coach Harvey Hallum, head wrestling coach and science teacher, came to Jenks three years ago after graduating from Northwest Missouri State College. He has built the JHS wrestling program to more than one hundred participants.

Even though she enjoys teaching English and journalism, Mrs. Sue Hoelman admits that humanities is her favorite course. "I wish I had six humanities classes," she laughingly says.

Mr. Seibert Haley takes an avid interest in all his students. An ordained minister, his philosophy on students' problems has earned him the nickname "Pops" Haley. He teaches reading, psychology, and civics; and is seen every day rolling his "mobile schoolroom" from class to class.

Miss Suzanne Lazenby instructs her Art I students in creative art techniques including pencil drawings such as still life, human body, animal, and objects in motion. Other activities include water color, papier mache, and pen and ink drawings.

"Five minus three is one" is not an error that would be commonly made by Mrs. Jerrilyn Jones, JHS math and science teacher. Mrs. Jones, one of the fifteen new teachers at JHS, completed her education at Southeastern Louisiana University and taught only one semester before coming to Jenks.

How does Larry Lawson get into his white VW? With great calculation. Mr. Lawson, math teacher for the last five years, teaches geometry and algebra. For two years he helped the juniors raise money in the concession stand as a junior class sponsor. He encourages students to call him at home for help in math.

Mr. Steve Jackman teaches drafting and woodshop.

In his first year of teaching, Mr. Jay Keeney instructs junior high students. Teaching younger students is a new experience because as a student teacher, he taught seniors. Although he says he spends most of his spare time preparing for his classes, he does enjoy water skiing and tennis.

Mrs. Sandra McCollum teaches junior high and high school art. She enjoys teaching at JHS because, as she says, "I like the students." She feels, however, that a more varied curriculum should be offered.

Mrs. Kay Marshall has taught at Jenks for four years. She teaches physiology and biology and says she enjoys teaching.

Mr. J. D. Newland, JHS class of '56, came back to Jenks from Kim Ray, Inc., to teach woodshop.

Mrs. Marguerite Lofton, JHS's most versatile science teacher, believes the JHS students are the "best students anywhere." Last year, she originated a highly successful geology class and her schedule this year includes geology physical science, and Biology II. She thinks that students interested in a career in a science field should love science and keep informed of new developments, especially if they would like to teach science.

Mrs. Matti Palluconi, who is new at JHS this year, feels that her students are extremely cooperative and mannerly. Mrs. Palluconi is an avid fan of the Tulsa Ice Oilers.

Coach Clifford (Red) Rogers, on his second assignment to Jenks School System, has been coaching the Trojans for four years. He claims hard work and simplicity as the most important assets of a team. He was named Coach of the Week for November 8.

Mrs. Marianne Robertson, new JHS girls' basketball coach, has never coached a high school basketball team before. Her practices are characterized by her stomping her feet, waving her arms, and finally jumping in the game to prove her point. Mrs. Robertson coached tennis before coming to JHS.

Mr. Gene Ross, JHS's cowboy, has taught Vocational Agriculture here for five years. His classes cover the wide range of animal husbandry to welding.

Mrs. Bonney Smith teaches classes in English I, II, and III. An experienced teacher, Mrs. Smith is an OU graduate.

From having taught P.E. in South America and home economics at Vianney, Mrs. Betty Phillips is now the librarian for JHS. She prefers non-fiction books and says she doesn't read as much as she would like to, but she does read magazine articles and book reviews. Mrs. Phillips enjoys golfing and fishing.

Mrs. Joyce Stevens, in her seventh year teaching at Jenks, finds her English Classes mostly composed of freshmen. After her day at school, she helps her two children with homework and spends other spare time traveling and grading papers.

Mr. J. C. Stubbs, JHS football and baseball, coach, has been at Jenks for three years. Known as one of the school's friendliest teachers, he is always seen with a smile on his face. In addition to coaching, Mr. Stubbs teaches geography and driver's education.

"Counseling is important to me because I feel students need someone out of the classroom that wears a white hat." Mrs. Juanita Still, speech teacher and part time counselor has been associated with Jenks for eleven years. In her spare time, Mrs. Still helps her husband with his work at John 3:16 Mission.

Contemporary World Affairs a new course at JHS, is taught by Mrs. Wanda Stotts. This course deals with today's problems and Mrs. Stotts encourages students to participate through discussion and presentations.

Mrs. Kay Vargo, who teaches 7th grade English, and 7th and 8th grade reading, makes a concentrated effort to make her classes fun. They have punctuation races, and the 7th graders often challenge the 8th graders to a writing contest. The best copy received is submitted to the MAROON AND WHITE for publication.

Enthusiasm makes teaching 8th graders exciting for Mrs. Joan Whitmire. Collages, skits, and posters are among the activities Mrs. Whitmire uses to interest her students in English and Speech I.

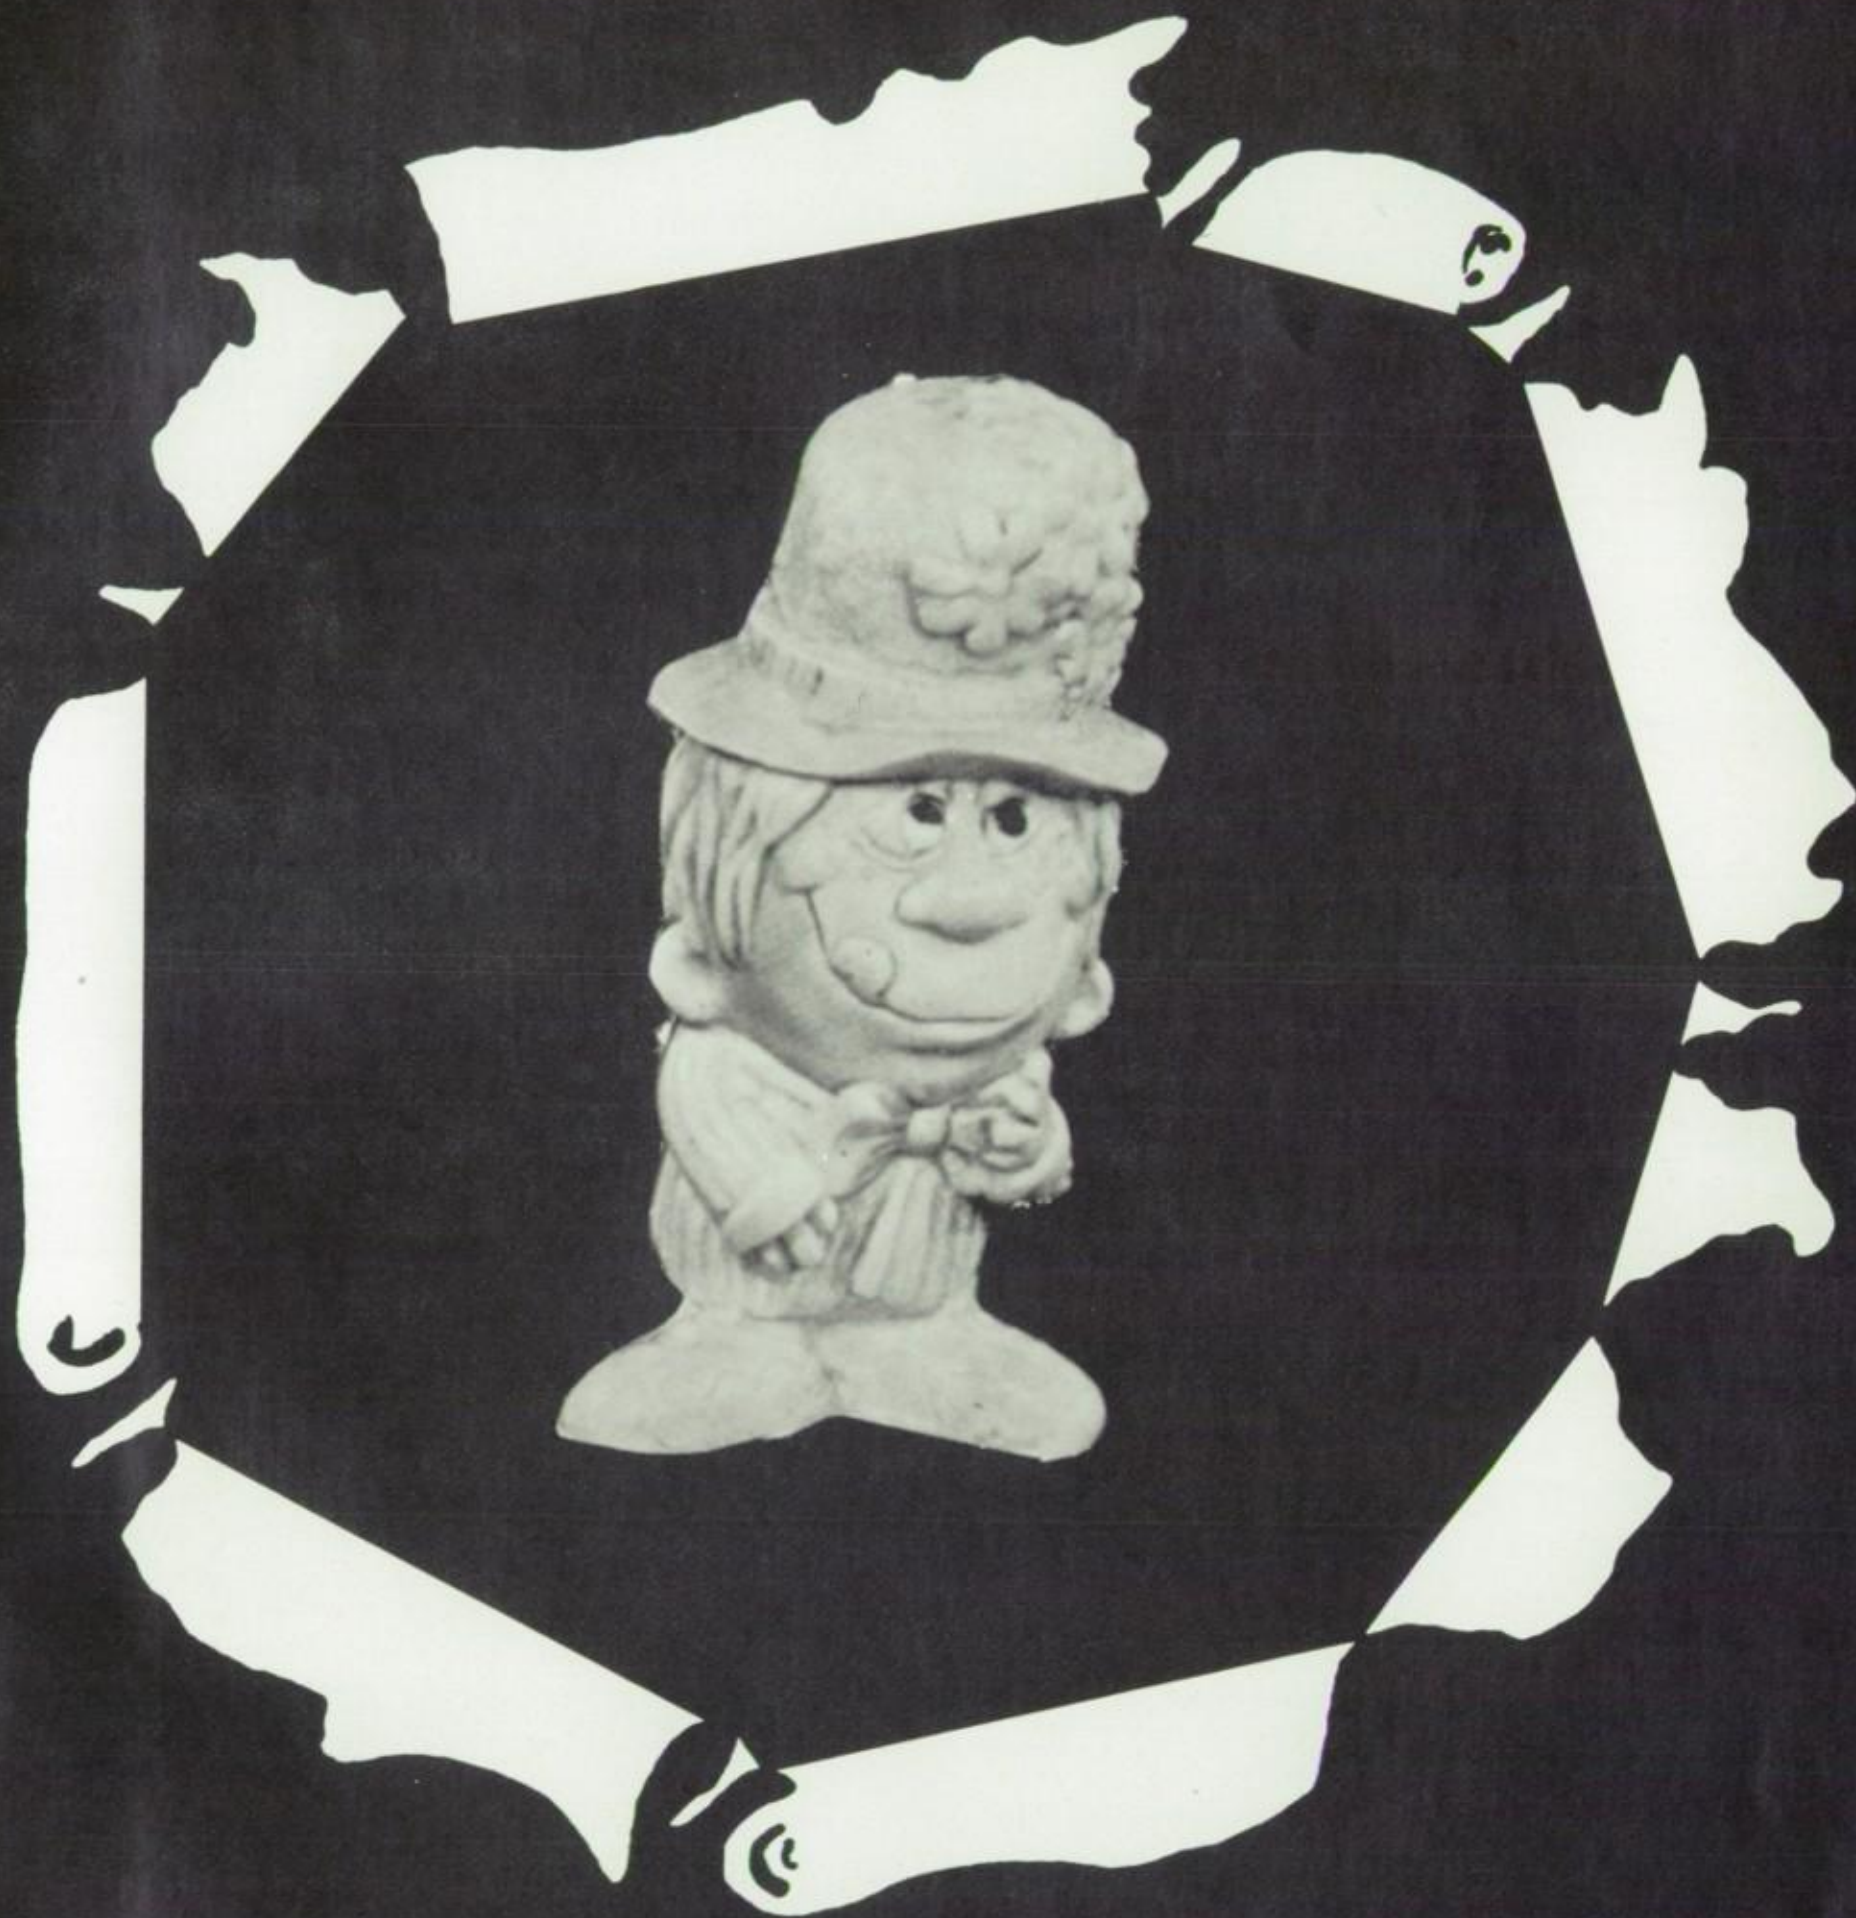

In her spare time, Mrs. Joan Woods enjoys working with her family's horses. She is often seen tending them after school. Experienced at many schools, Mrs. Woods teaches science in the JHS junior high.

Mr. Walter Wolff has been at JHS for four years teaching Oklahoma History and Civics. He currently acts as junior class concession sponsor.

We, the members of the Annual Staff, have worked diligently to make this Annual fit the personality of the student body. We hope you will like what you find between the covers of this book.

MAROON WHITE

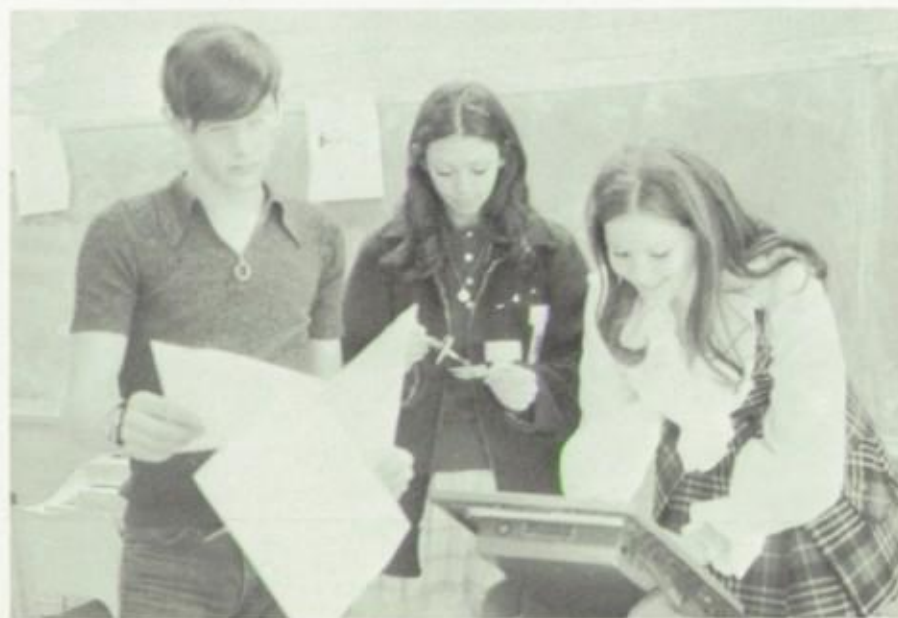

Proofreading dummies before printing the MAROON & WHITE is one of the many jobs which must be shared among Journalism II students: Guy McKnight, Anita Bodkin, Betty Chamblis, Sandy Murray, Mrs. Hoevelman (sponsor), Ron Robinson, and Sue Newton (seated).

Editorship for the MAROON & WHITE, JHS's bi-weekly newspaper, rotates so that each Journalism II student edits at least one paper. Journalism I students help write copy, make-up pages, and sell the paper. Journalism I also writes for the weekly town publication.

Many after-school hours are spent in meeting publication deadlines. From assigning stories to printing the paper on the school's offset press, the students learn every step in paper production.

Staff photographers are Ron Robinson and Chuck Hunt. Printers are Ted Brown and Tim Glenn.

One special feature of the MAROON & WHITE this year has been "Junior High Vibrations," a page consisting of junior high students' writings and art work.

Survival of the fittest

In 1949, when the American car buyer had his choice of cars like the De Soto, the Hudson or the Studebaker, two intrepid souls bought Volkswagens.
It turns out they were more farsighted than foolhardy.
Because today there aren't many De Sotos, Hudsons or Studebakers around.
But there are quite a few Volkswagens. More than three and a half million at last count.
Seldom has so little come so far.
